

22nd Sunday in Ordinary Time

August 30, 2009

Deuteronomy 4:1-2

James 1: 17-18

Mark 7: 1-8

“The people honor me with their lips, but their hearts are far from me”

It is very serious not to judge others, because only God knows the hearts of everyone, he who imparts judgment is putting himself above the person being judged and loses merit for many of his good deeds. It is of no value to offer God prayers, when the heart is rejecting his teachings; it is worthless to offer him lip service when the Soul is full of egoism and the heart is far away from me.

If you are concerned about the H1N1 virus, no one should feel compelled to engage in physical contact to exchange at the peace at Mass, or reception of the Precious Blood from the Cup. A nod or smile along with a greeting such as “Christ’s peace be with you” can take the place of a handshake if desired.
